Second Harvest Food Bank
Greater New Orleans and Acadiana

Since 1982, Second Harvest Food Bank of Greater New Orleans and Acadiana has been leading the fight against hunger in south Louisiana through food distribution, advocacy, education and disaster response. Today, Second Harvest Food Bank distributes more than 22 million meals annually through a network of 240 nonprofit member agencies and provides emergency food assistance to more than 263,000 people, including nearly 82,000 children and 40,000 seniors.

FROM THE PRESIDENT & CEO

The journey of transformation continued for Second Harvest Food Bank in FY 2010 and FY 2011. The move to a larger warehouse was a major milestone toward becoming a community-owned, strong and foundational food and nutrition center for south Louisiana. Larger freezers and coolers to safely handle the millions pounds of fresh food becoming available to us, space to gather hundreds of volunteers to sort through the tractor trailer loads of grocery products arriving daily, and room to install an 8,500 square foot commercial kitchen built to produce two million nourishing meals a year were all leaps forward toward fulfilling our mission to lead the fight against hunger in south Louisiana through food distribution advocacy, education and disaster response.

The transformation was more than physical. Second Harvest continued to ask and seek the answer to the question: How do we best tackle the pervasive food insecurity that so many of our neighbors, friends and family members face? In many ways, the experiences we have faced as a community have formed the answer for us. Only a holistic approach, working with partners from all sectors of our society, can succeed in building a community where every member enjoys food security.

Second Harvest continued to speak out at the federal and state levels for those it serves and worked with others to build a strong and sustainable food system at home. We strengthened our relationships with member agencies and other partners throughout our 23 parish service area which allowed us to significantly increase the amount of nutritious food we were able to bring to local neighborhoods.

We implemented new programs and expanded others to increase our outreach to those who are particularly vulnerable -- children and seniors. We knew that the most serious health challenges facing the people we serve such as diabetes, hypertension and obesity begin with poor nutrition, so we focused on providing nutrition education and tools to help stretch limited food dollars to include as much healthy food as possible. We realized that we could perhaps make the biggest inroads in the fight against hunger by partnering with federal government to connect people to the federal benefits designed to assist them through challenging times.

This work goes forward because those of you that own and direct Second Harvest -- our Board of Directors, those who donate food, funds and time, and the community-at-large who have given time, talent and treasure to our cause. You honor us by feeling that what we do is important and that it does make a difference.

Our nation faces a difficult and transformative time as we struggle to maintain our values while living within our means. Second Harvest is able to succeed because south Louisianans are strong and compassionate. We can prevail in this battle against hunger because as a people we are a mighty force, harvesting the bounty we have been blessed with and sharing our good fortune with those who need our help.

Many of us will continue to experience difficult times in the days to come. Thank you for working alongside us to make a critical difference in the lives of so many families, children, adults and seniors.

TRANSFORMING THE WAY WE FIGHT HUNGER

One in eight people in Louisiana struggles with hunger. In communities across south Louisiana, seniors face difficult choices between buying food and purchasing medicine; parents go without eating in order to feed their children; and working families must decide whether to pay the rent or put food on the table.

Approximately 2.5 million people living across 23 south Louisiana parishes rely on Second Harvest Food Bank at some point for emergency food assistance during times of hardship and disaster. Whether faced with job loss, mounting medical expenses, or the aftermath of a hurricane, oil spill, or other tragic event, Second Harvest Food Bank is always there to help nourish those in need, when it is needed most.

38 MILLION MEALS BY 2013

To effectively fight hunger across south Louisiana, Second Harvest Food Bank is on a mission to increase the number of meals we distribute annually to 38 million meals by 2013. In order to fulfill this promise to children, families and seniors all along the Louisiana Gulf Coast, Second Harvest is working to:

- enhance Second Harvest Food Bank's capacity to accept and distribute better quality and larger quantities of food, minimize food waste, and maximize the production of nutritious meals,
- improve and expand services to our network of more than 240 member agencies,
- develop and deliver community programs to better meet the needs of those who are struggling with hunger,
- engage communities through education, outreach and expanded volunteer opportunities, and
- strengthen Second Harvest Food Bank's vital role in disaster response.

While the scope of Second Harvest Food Bank's work is already significant, increasing the amount of food distributed each year requires an innovative, efficient and comprehensive food distribution and disaster response system through a state-of-the-art Regional Food and Nutrition Center.

In March 2010, Second Harvest Food Bank took the first step toward putting the necessary infrastructure in place to help the food bank achieve its ambitious, long-range goals. Second Harvest Food Bank completed the acquisition of, and moved into, a 200,000 square foot warehouse located at 700 Edwards Avenue in Harahan, LA.

“Our move to the warehouse at 700 Edwards Avenue is the first, critical step toward meeting our long-term strategic goal of distributing 38 million meals,” said Natalie Jayroe, President and CEO of Second Harvest Food Bank. “The larger warehouse will allow us to become more efficient stewards of the resources given to us by enhancing our capacity to accept and distribute better quality and larger quantities of food, improving and expanding services to our member agencies, developing and delivering programs to better meet the needs of families, seniors and children who are struggling with hunger, and engaging the community through education, outreach and volunteer opportunities. The larger warehouse will also advance Second Harvest Food Bank's vital role in disaster response.”

COMMUNITY KITCHEN OPENS

Another critical step was taken in January 2011 with the groundbreaking for construction of the Second Harvest Food Bank Community Kitchen within the new location. With a Community Kitchen in place, Second Harvest Food Bank would have the capacity to produce and distribute large quantities of nutritious prepared meals to support summer and afterschool feeding programs for children, and provide meals to address the dietary needs of seniors.

On June 2, 2011, community leaders, supporters and volunteers gathered for a ribbon-cutting and official opening of the Second Harvest Food Bank Community Kitchen. The 8,500 square foot commercial kitchen and adjacent teaching studio immediately started producing meals to launch an expanded summer feeding initiative for children on June 6, 2011.

“With the ability to produce two million meals a year, the Community Kitchen gives us tremendous additional capacity to lead the fight against hunger along the Louisiana Gulf Coast,” said Natalie Jayroe, President and CEO of Second Harvest Food Bank. The kitchen will also allow us to reach out with feeding programs that focus on two particularly vulnerable populations -- children and seniors.”

The Community Kitchen will help Second Harvest maximize millions of pounds of donated food including perishable items such as fresh fruits and vegetables, meat, frozen food products, and dairy received through its Retail Store Pick-Up Program. Many donated food items that would normally have a short shelf life will be given new life in the form of frozen, prepared meals that will be distributed through Second Harvest Food Bank partner agencies. In the event of a disaster or emergency, the Community Kitchen will also produce meals to support disaster response efforts.

A 1,000 square foot teaching kitchen will be used for educational programs such as cooking and nutrition classes, small meetings and special events.

At nearly 6,500 square feet, the commercial grade production kitchen is among the largest production kitchens in the region. Designed for producing two million meals a year, the kitchen boasts an 80 gallon kettle and cook-chill unit. Prepared food items such as chili, soups, beef stew, and macaroni and cheese will be packaged, flash frozen and stored in blast freezers for distribution to member agencies along the Louisiana Gulf Coast.

The Community Kitchen is an important component of the transformation process that Second Harvest Food Bank is undergoing to build its capacity to lead the fight against hunger. Generous gifts from Feeding America and Catholic Charities USA provided the initial support needed to begin this work.

In FY 2011, food distribution increased 33 percent to 26,937,674 pounds, or nearly 22 million meals.

FEEDING OUR NEIGHBORS IN NEED

Second Harvest Food Bank of Greater New Orleans and Acadiana collects and distributes millions of pounds of donated food each year from its New Orleans and Lafayette warehouses. In FY 2010, Second Harvest Food Bank distributed 19,794,305 pounds of food, the equivalent of approximately 17 million meals. In FY 2011, food distribution increased 33 percent to 28,101,353 pounds, or nearly 22 million meals.

Our fight to end hunger in south Louisiana depends on a network of more than 240 faith-based and nonprofit member agencies including food pantries, shelters and soup kitchens, across 23 parishes – from the Mississippi border to the Texas state line. Member agencies depend on Second Harvest Food Bank to supply the food necessary to provide for more than 263,000 individuals, including approximately 82,000 children and 40,000 seniors, who receive food assistance each year.

In areas with limited food resources and infrastructure to support full-time grocery stores, Second Harvest Food Bank deploys its Mobile Pantry program. The Mobile Pantry is a traveling food pantry that delivers food directly to individuals and families in communities without a nearby Second Harvest Food Bank member agency. In times of an emergency or disaster, the Mobile Pantry program also allows Second Harvest Food Bank to quickly deliver food and supplies to impacted communities.

In addition, Second Harvest Food Bank operates direct feeding services for children through the Lagniappe Backpack, 9-A-Day and Summer Feeding programs, and for seniors through the Senior Brown Bag program.

FIGHTING CHILD HUNGER

Louisiana has one of the highest rates of child food insecurity in the country. In fact, one in five children in Louisiana lives in a household that does not have access to enough nutritious food to lead a healthy life. Child hunger threatens the health and wellbeing of more than 246,000 children in Louisiana. Hunger can lead to impairments in intellectual, physical and emotional development that can preclude our children from reaching their full potential.

LAGNIAPPE BACKPACK PROGRAM

The Lagniappe Backpack program is an initiative designed to meet the needs of children at risk for hunger during weekends and school vacations – times when resources such as free and reduced school breakfast and lunch are not available. Each week, the Lagniappe Backpack program provides backpacks filled with nutritious, child-friendly, non-perishable foods to students in kindergarten through second grade.

In 2010, 986 children at 13 sites received backpacks. In 2011, the Lagniappe Backpack program grew to serve 1,121 children at 15 participating schools.

9-A-DAY THE HEAD START WAY

The 9-A-Day Program is a nutrition education program designed to provide preschool-age children with access to fresh fruits and vegetables and the skills and knowledge to adopt lifelong healthy eating habits.

Each week, Second Harvest Food Bank delivers fresh produce to participating Head Start schools to encourage healthy eating among children and their families. Through the program, children receive nutrition education focused on the produce they receive. The produce and healthy recipes are sent home for families to cook and enjoy a nutritious meal together.

In FY 2010 and FY 2011, 1,084 children at 12 Head Start locations participated in the 9-A-Day program.

SUMMER FEEDING

In 2010, more than 90 percent of children in New Orleans public schools qualified for school food under the free and reduced meal program. Across Second Harvest Food Bank's 23-parish service territory, 245,674 school children in public and charter schools participate in the federal free and reduced meal program. However, in the summer months only 13 percent of these children have access to a feeding program.

Second Harvest Food Bank's Summer Feeding initiative provides nutritious meals to thousands of children who might otherwise go hungry during the summer months when schools are closed.

During the summer of 2010, Second Harvest Food Bank launched a pilot Summer Feeding program working from a temporary, donated kitchen space located at Grace Episcopal Church in New Orleans. Over the course of eight weeks, volunteers helped to prepare 28,050 total meals, including breakfast and lunch, for 390 children at five sites.

The success of the 2010 summer feeding pilot program paved the way for an expanded program in 2011. With the opening of the Second Harvest Food Bank Community Kitchen in June 2011, the summer feeding program grew by 434% and provided 101,525 nutritious breakfast and lunch meals to approximately 1,898 children at 35 summer camp sites (June – August, 2011).

“The Second Harvest Community Kitchen brings the capacity to produce meals to the critical collaborations necessary for building stronger communities,” said Jayroe. “Working side by side with the City of New Orleans, Emeril Lagasse Foundation, Share Our Strength, the New Orleans Recreation Department, Recovery School District, Partnership for Youth Development, United Way, and others, thousands more children in the Greater New Orleans area will have access to nutritious meals each summer.”

Second Harvest Food Bank's Summer Feeding program is possible with support from Walmart, the Emeril Lagasse Foundation and Share Our Strength. Relationships with United States Department of Agriculture Food and Nutrition Services and the Louisiana State Department of Education ensure the long-term sustainability of the summer feeding program.

FEEDING SENIORS

Facing fixed incomes, decreased mobility, age-related health issues and high medical costs, Louisiana seniors are increasingly at greater risk of hunger. Second Harvest Food Bank serves approximately 40,000 seniors through its member agencies each year.

In addition to member agency food distribution, the Senior Brown Bag program provides nutritional support to seniors at risk of hunger. The program supplements existing senior meal services with easy-to-prepare, nutritionally appropriate foods distributed each Friday to low-income seniors through participating senior centers. In 2010 and 2011, the Second Harvest Food Bank Senior Brown Bag Program served 130 seniors at two locations.

EDUCATION AND OUTREACH

COOKING MATTERS

In 2011, Second Harvest received a grant from Share Our Strength to launch Cooking Matters, a six-week, nutrition education program that connects families with food. Professional chefs and nutritionists volunteer their time and expertise to lead hands-on courses that show adults, teens and children how to purchase and prepare affordable, nutritious meals.

As of June 30, 2011, 26 participants in two Cooking Matters programs graduated with a 100 percent graduation rate.

ACCESS TO FEDERAL PROGRAMS: SNAP OUTREACH

The first line of defense against hunger is to ensure that people who are eligible for federal benefits receive them.

In May 2011, Second Harvest Food Bank launched a Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) Outreach Program. Working closely with member agencies and community organizations across the Louisiana Gulf Coast, the Second Harvest Food Bank SNAP outreach team helps families and individuals apply for the SNAP benefits they need to sustain themselves and their families. Working one-on-one, the SNAP outreach team works to make the application process clearer and more accessible to families in need by completing interviews and submitting applications directly to the Louisiana Department of Children and Family Services.

In just two short months, May – June 2011, Second Harvest Food Bank's SNAP outreach team connected people to benefits that would provide approximately 466,903 meals.

HOW WE WORK

Second Harvest Food Bank works to secure donated food that comes from many sources: community food drives, retailers, growers, food processors and manufacturers, Feeding America and USDA programs. In FY 2010, Second Harvest Food Bank secured 19,749,305 pounds of food. In FY 2011, 28,101,353 pounds were received for distribution to thousands of Louisianans at risk for hunger across 23 south Louisiana parishes.

RETAIL STORE PICK-UP PROGRAM

In addition to the food and resources Second Harvest Food Bank receives through Feeding America and from federal nutrition programs through USDA, Second Harvest also works to secure donations of nutritious food products from local retail stores and manufacturers.

The Retail Store Pick-up Program is a critical source of nutritious food for Second Harvest Food Bank. Each week Second Harvest Food Bank visits local retailers such as Walmart, Sam's Club, Winn-Dixie, Target, Whole Foods, Breaux Mart, Big Lots, Langenstein's, Kroger and others to pickup assorted surplus foods including fruits and vegetables, frozen meats, dairy products, and baked goods.

In 2010, food donations through the Retail Store Pick-up Program increased 99 percent, from 2,736,192 pounds in FY 2010 to 5,454,551 pounds in FY 2011.

FOOD DRIVES AND LOCAL DONATIONS

In addition to the Retail Store Pick-up Program, individuals, schools, community groups, business and faith groups contribute approximately 28 percent of the food that Second Harvest Food Bank distributes each year. Annual food drives including Rouses Stop Hunger program, The National Association of Letter Carriers Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive, the New Orleans Saints/Winn-Dixie Food Drive and many others are a vital source of nutritious food for families across south Louisiana.

In FY 2010, food drive and local donations provided 5,616,447 pounds of food. In FY 2011, food drive and local donations increased by 65 percent and netted 9,278,602 pounds of donated food.

FEEDING AMERICA

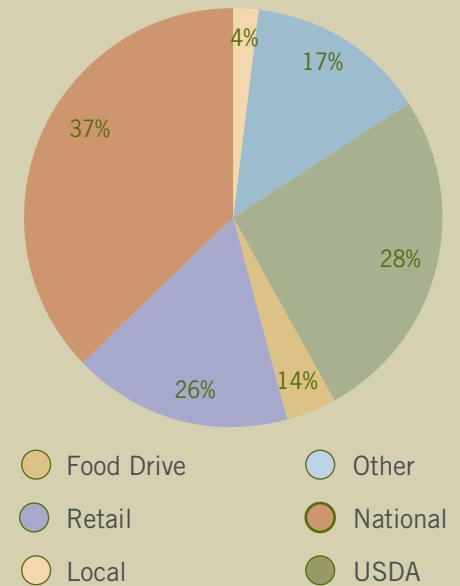

Feeding America, the nation's largest domestic hunger relief organization, secures food and grocery products from large corporate manufacturers, retailers and farmers for distribution to more than 200 member food banks nationally. In FY 2010, Second Harvest Food Bank received 3,421,827 pounds of food through its Feeding America partnership. In FY 2011, the amount of donated food received from Feeding America increased 58 percent to 5,390,243 pounds.

USDA

The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP) is a Federal program that helps supplement the diets of low-income persons in need, including seniors, by providing emergency food and nutrition assistance. Through this program, the U.S. Department of Agriculture provides commodity foods to Second Harvest Food Bank for distribution through member agencies across south Louisiana.

In FY 2010, Second Harvest Food Bank received 7,255,042 pounds of USDA commodity products. In FY 2011, USDA commodities increased slightly to 7,347,198 pounds.

FISCAL YEAR '09 - '10

FISCAL YEAR '10 - '11

VOLUNTEERS

From sorting and packing donated food to helping with administrative tasks, gleaning citrus, or preparing meals in the Community Kitchen; volunteers are important to the day-to-day operation of Second Harvest Food Bank. Each year, more than 9,700 volunteers share their time and talent to fight hunger. Many return to help time and again.

Students in Service, a Second Harvest Food Bank service learning program for students in grades kindergarten through 12th grade, offers a variety of hands-on volunteer opportunities combined with a comprehensive curriculum to educate students about the social issues of hunger and poverty. In 2011, students contributed 477 service learning hours.

In 2010, volunteers gave 29,885 hours of service to the fight against hunger. In 2011, volunteer hours topped 32,467 hours, an increase of 9 percent, and the equivalent of 16 full-time staff members.

ADVOCACY & PUBLIC POLICY

Second Harvest is leading the fight against hunger in south Louisiana through advocacy work at the local, state and national levels.

Locally, in FY 10 and FY 11 Second Harvest coordinated the New Orleans Food Policy Advisory Committee including the release of Stepping Up to the Plate: Transforming School Food in New Orleans, a report with recommended policy changes to help transform school food in New Orleans.

At the state level, Second Harvest serves on the Louisiana Sustainable Local Food Policy Council to help create policy recommendations to improve the local economy and bring healthy, fresh, local food into schools and other institutions. Second Harvest is a member of the Louisiana Food Bank Association and supports its efforts to obtain funding from the State of Louisiana to purchase Louisiana food for Louisiana's hungry. The spirit of collaboration within the communities we serve has helped Second Harvest achieve our goals and provide more food for south Louisianans at risk of hunger.

In FY 2010, Second Harvest Food Bank published From the Bayou to the Boucherie: A Food System Assessment of South Louisiana. This assessment helps to inform and guide our work throughout south Louisiana.

In October 2010 Second Harvest chaired the local host committee for the national Community Food Security Coalition Conference held in New Orleans. This was the largest conference ever hosted by the Community Food Security Coalition and offered the more than 1,000 attendees a look at the innovative food security work throughout the region.

DISASTER RESPONSE

At Second Harvest Food Bank, it is our job to respond to the everyday disaster of hunger as well as the extraordinary events that create an even greater hardship for families in the communities we serve. With a long history of emergency response experience and a strong network of partner agencies in local communities throughout south Louisiana, Second Harvest Food Bank is ready to respond as needed.

DEEPWATER HORIZON OIL SPILL

On April 29, 2010, Governor Bobby Jindal declared a State of Emergency in response to the Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill in the Gulf of Mexico. Families in 14 Louisiana parishes, approximately 46,650 households, faced the uncertainty of possible short-term and long-term environmental and economic impacts on their culture and way of life.

Second Harvest Food Bank responded swiftly and worked in concert with Catholic Charities Archdiocese of New Orleans, the Louisiana Department of Children and Family Services, local governments, and its member agencies to ensure that families received the emergency food assistance they needed.

More than 1,750 emergency food boxes were distributed at disaster relief sites located in St. Bernard and Plaquemines Parishes, and in New Orleans East. As part of the ongoing response effort, than 850,000 meals were distributed to families in the impacted parishes from May 1 through December 31, 2010.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY COMMEMORATION OF HURRICANES KATRINA AND RITA

In August 2010, more than 200 volunteers, dignitaries and community leaders gathered at Second Harvest's New Orleans warehouse to reflect on the achievements of the community and Second Harvest Food Bank in the five years following the devastating storms that left thousands in need of emergency food assistance across south Louisiana and beyond. Chase announced the donation of a state-of-the-art refrigerated truck to support food distribution across 23 south Louisiana parishes. TLC's Take Home Chef, Curtis Stone, rallied volunteers who packed 4,000 emergency food boxes to be staged and ready for disaster response efforts by Feeding America food banks.

In Lafayette, Second Harvest commemorated the fifth anniversary of Hurricane Rita with the announcement of a gift of two refrigerated trucks by Cargill. Rouses delivered a semi-trailer of non-perishable food items, all to help Second Harvest's efforts to fight hunger along the Louisiana Gulf Coast.

TORNADO RESPONSE

As a member of Feeding America, Second Harvest Food Bank and food banks across the country are prepared to mobilize and respond quickly and supportively to any community in the United States that faces a crisis. It was through this amazing spirit, generosity and commitment of many talented people from food banks nationwide that Second Harvest Food Bank was able to respond quickly to the tragedy, loss and need created by the devastating storms of 2005.

In May 2011, Second Harvest Food Bank stepped up to lend support to Feeding America food banks on the front lines of the response efforts to devastating tornados that crossed the southeast. Truckloads of water were sent to some of the hardest hit communities including Raleigh, NC, and Northport and Huntsville, AL. In addition, Second Harvest provided 2,064 cases of MREs (Meals Ready to Eat) and nearly 28,000 meals in family disaster boxes that were packed by 200 volunteers at the Second Harvest Food Bank event that commemorated the fifth anniversary of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Each year, Second Harvest Food Bank hosts a variety of special events to raise awareness, funds and participation in the fight against hunger.

HARVEST THE MUSIC

Each September, the Harvest the Music concert series, presented by Hancock Bank and Whitney Bank, brings the community together for an eight-week music event that not only feeds the soul, but raises awareness about the issue of hunger in south Louisiana.

Each Wednesday over the course of eight weeks, thousands of concert-goers gather, in the heart of downtown New Orleans, for a free concert featuring celebrated local and regional musicians and food from local favorites. An artists' village features the work of talented local artists, craftsmen and businesses. Proceeds from food and beverage sales support Second Harvest Food Bank and the fight against hunger.

RUBBER DUCK DERBY

In 2010 Second Harvest Food Bank introduced the Rubber Duck Derby. Held during the Mid-City Bayou Boogaloo in New Orleans, 6,000 little yellow rubber ducks were dropped into Bayou St. John for a race to fight hunger. The top three lucky ducks to cross the finish line scored fantastic prizes including the grand prize, a Carnival Cruise. In 2011 the Rubber Duck Derby, sponsored by Chevron, doubled in size with 12,000 yellow swimmers racing to win a sporty SMART car.

HARVEST AT HOME

Introduced in 2010, Harvest at Home invites participants to be a part of a special event and support Second Harvest by gathering friends and family and preparing and sharing a meal to raise awareness about the issue of hunger.

In 2011, Harvest at Home began a new tradition with Chef Donald Link serving as the event's first celebrity guest chef. Harvest at Home 2011 was centered around Chef Link's featured recipe – Pan Roasted Chicken With Onions and Olives. With support from Whole Foods Market, participants received items to help prepare Link's signature dish.

CANSTRUCTION LAFAYETTE

Second Harvest Food Bank introduced Canstruction in Lafayette in June 2011. Five teams competed in a design and build competition, and created magnificent, complex structures entirely out of canned goods and non-perishable food items. The giant structures were displayed at the Acadiana Center for the Arts. At the conclusion of the exhibition, all food items from the structures were delivered to Second Harvest Food Bank to help provide 15,000 meals for men, women, children and seniors struggling with hunger.

Canstruction is a trademark community service project of the Society for Design Administration (SDA), which takes place in over 150 cities nationwide. Canstruction Lafayette was sponsored by the Pinhook Foundation, Inc.

BUILDING CAPACITY AND EFFICIENCY

Building capacity to accept and distribute better quality and larger quantities of food efficiently is critical to Second Harvest's Food Banks strategic and aggressive goal to provide 38 million meals annually by 2013.

In FY 2011, Second Harvest Food Bank continued to improve its business practices in ways that will yield benefits for the diverse communities we serve. In addition to implementing new purchasing and expenditure authorization policies to increase our organizational efficiency and transparency, Second Harvest was the first non-pilot food bank to implement Feeding America's Athena Technology Program as a host site.

By implementing the Athena Technology Program, Second Harvest Food Bank aligned its technology platforms with Feeding America to create efficiencies that will ultimately enable us to provide more food to more people. The total technology transformation and utilization of best practices will allow Second Harvest to better analyze all aspects of our operation. Athena also provided remote hosting of all business systems to ensure that, in the event of a natural disaster, Second Harvest will remain online and can resume services quickly to safeguard operating capabilities during even the most critical times.

HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

The following donor list recognizes those generous supporters who made gifts and pledges in support of Second Harvest Food Bank's general operations and capital campaign in fiscal years 2010 and 2011. We greatly appreciate their support of our mission to lead the fight against hunger in south Louisiana.
